BIRTHDAY

Of Thomas Moore to Be Observed Last Saturday in May.

Brilliant Irish Poet Sang Sweetly of Country and Patriots.

Lived at a Time When Literature Flourished in Great Britain.

HIS SONGS WILL LIVE LONG

Sons and daughters of Erin all over the world will celebrate the anniversary of Thomas Moore, the Irish poet, one week from today. Moore was born in Dublin on May 28, 1779. His father was a thriving merchant and his mother a highly educated woman. He inherited his poetic talent from both parents. He was destined for the bar, but had no liking for it. Though he took his degree he gave up the profession to become a man of letters. Moore left a wealth of varied prose and poetic writings. A rare union of wit and sensibility, of brilliant fancy and of varied and diligent study is exemplified in the poetical works of Thomas Moore. Although his verse had been published from the time he was thirteen years old it was not until 1806 that he entered upon his noble, patriotic and poetical task—writing lyrics for the ancient music of his native land. His Irish songs displayed a fervor and pathos not found in his earlier works, with the most exquisite melody and purity of diction. An accomplished musician himself, it was the effort, he relates, to translate into language the emotions and passions which music appeared to him to express that first led to his writing any poetry worthy of the name. Moore wrote: "Dryden has happily described music as being inarticulate poetry, and I have always felt, in adapting words to an expressive air, that I was bestowing upon it the gift of articulating, and thus enabling it to speak to others all that was conveyed in its wordless eloquence to myself."

The Irish poet lived at a period when poets and prose authors were both numerous and renowned in England. He was a contemporary of Byron, Cowper, Wordsworth, Dr. Taylor, Miss Seward, Crabbe, Coleridge, Southey, Campbell, Sir Walter Scott, Shelley, Keats, Dr. Heber, Wolfe, Collins, Knowles, Leigh Hunt, Mrs. Hemans, Robert Burns and many others. As a sweet singer Moore led all the rest.

He tried his hand at satire and succeeded fairly well in the lighter vein. There was never a sting left behind by Moore's quips. Although he wrote more ambitious verse, his Irish melodies were enthusiastically sent round: "May the breezes from France fan our Irish oak into verdure." Amid such surroundings there is small difficulty in reasoning why his soul was filled with patriotism.

Moore was an Irish Catholic, as were his parents. Roman Catholics were proscribed and depressed by penal enactments during Moore's boyhood. His parents seem to have been of the number who, to use the poet's own words, "hailed the first dazzling outbreak of the French Revolution as a signal to the slave, wherever suffering, that the day of his deliverance was at hand." The poet tells us that in 1792 he accompanied his father to a dinner in Dublin. It was given in honor of the success of the French Revolution. Moore tells how he sat on the knee of the Chairman while the following toast was enthusiastically sent round: "May the breezes from France fan our Irish oak into verdure." Amid such surroundings there is small difficulty in reasoning why his soul was filled with patriotism.

Although Moore received many thousands of dollars he died poor, neglected and a victim of senile decay. Moore had his enemies while he lived, and he knew it. Listen to this charming, and yet sad-sounding plaint of the Irish melodist: "When he who adores thee has left but the name Of his fault and his sorrows behind; Oh, say, wilt thou weep, when they darken the fame Of a life that for thee was resigned? Yes, weep! and however my foes may condemn, Thy tears shall efface their deed; For Heaven can witness, though guilty to them, I have been but to faithful to thee."

In New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago Irish Nationalists will celebrate Moore's birthday. As yet no attempt has been made to celebrate the event in Louisville.

INTO ETERNAL REST.

Mrs. Josephine Reisz, widow of the late Peter Reisz and one of New Albany's most highly esteemed residents, was called to her eternal reward last Sunday morning. Her funeral took place from St. Mary's church Wednesday morning, the edifice being thronged with mourning friends and relatives. Mrs. Reisz is survived by six daughters and two sons. Her eldest daughter is a member of the Sisters of St.

Francis, and is a teacher at the convent in Oldenburg, Ind. The other surviving children are Mrs. Julius Armstrong, Mrs. Louis Zipp, Mrs. Alvin Mathony and Miss Anna Reisz, of New Albany, and Mrs. John Paul, of Jeffersonville. Her sons are Frederick C., President of Unity Council, and Carl Reisz, who are well known in business circles in the Falls Cities.

GRAND COUNCIL.

People of Bellevue Making For Great Y. M. I. Gathering.

Frank G. Adams, Chairman of the Board of Grand Directors, of this city, visited Phil Sheridan Council at Bellevue this week and there met the committee arranging for the thirteenth Grand Council of the Young Men's Institute, which meets there on Sunday, August 7, and will be in session until the following Tuesday evening. The Bellevue committee is composed of Chairman E. H. Trimbur, Secretary John Hills, Jr., ex-Mayor Joseph A. Cassidy, Henry Bozold, Harry Tleman and A. Fredericks, who have held several meetings and have the convention programme well in hand.

Upon arrival the delegates will be escorted to the rooms of Phil Sheridan Council, where there will be an address of welcome and the distribution of badges, after which the delegates and visitors will be taken to the parks and various places of interest in Cincinnati and Covington. The Grand Council will be formally opened Monday morning with a solemn high mass at St. Anthony's church by the pastor, Rev. F. A. Kohoe, assisted by deacon and sub-deacon, and a priest not yet announced will preach the sermon. The sessions will be held in the quarters of Phil Sheridan Council, and the social features will include a dance on Monday evening, and on Tuesday evening a banquet for the Grand officers, delegates and visitors.

If the Louisville council run an excursion to Bellevue there will be no parade, and ex-Mayor Cassidy will have the citizens decorate for the occasion. Messrs. Adams and Conroy found everything enthusiastic and the Y. M. I. spirit very much awake, and say Bellevue is working hard to secure the first prize offered by the Board of Grand Directors for the greatest increase in membership.

SAVANNAH'S LOSS.

Two Irish-Americans Are Sadly Missed in Georgia.

The Irish contingent in Savannah no mourning the death of two of their leading members, ex-Chief of Police Owen Reilly and Capt. John Flannery. Mr. Reilly was a native of Savannah and had been a member of the police force in that city for twenty-eight years. He was a practical Catholic and died staunch in the faith.

Capt. Flannery was a native of Ireland and was born seventy-five years ago in the County Tipperary. He came to America at the age of sixteen. At the outbreak of the civil war young Flannery espoused the cause of the Confederacy and was elected Junior First Lieutenant of the Irish Jasper Greens, first volunteer regiment of Georgia. He served throughout the war and was made Captain of his company in 1862. He remained on the roll of the Irish Jasper Greens for more than half a century.

Capt. Flannery was a successful business man and able financier, and at his death was Vice President of the Southern Bank of Savannah. He was one of those noble men who heeded the motto of the Irish Jasper Greens, "To make gifts to charity before death overtook him, and in July, 1903, created the Flannery Trust Fund for the benefit of five Catholic charitable institutions in Savannah. The fund represented by a personal check for $50,000, drawn by Capt. Flannery, is in the hands of a board of trustees. The beneficiaries are the Little Sisters of the Poor, the Female Benevolent Society, St. Joseph's Male Orphanage, the Cathedral Altar Society and the Savannah Diocesan Seminary.

BISHOP CABLES DENIAL.

Cardinal Gibbons on Monday received the following signed cablegram from Bishop Paret, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland, dated at Florence, Italy: "Cardinal Gibbons, Baltimore: Mistake. Very false. No refusal. No discourtesy." This cablegram, which was said to be the Cardinal's residence to have been spontaneous and unsolicited, refers to a report circulated in this country recently to the effect that Bishop Paret, armed with a letter of introduction from Cardinal Gibbons, requested an interview with the Pope but was refused. Thus is nailed another fake worked upon the Associated Press.

PRIMARY.

The Democratic primary to nominate a candidate for Congress from this district will be held on Tuesday, June 7. Each ward will have at least three voting places. The candidates are the incumbent, Hon. Swager Sherley, and Hon. Thomas D. Newcomb, who was Senator and a Democratic leader in the last Legislature.

National Convention Completes Its Labors With Few Law Changes.

Provides For Uniform Rank and Creates Organization Fund.

Washington Chosen as Place For the Next Triennial Meeting.

OLD OFFICERS AGAIN CHOSEN

The national convention of the Catholic Knights of America at Nashville, Tenn., the birthplace of the order, finished its business and adjourned late Friday night, after what was pronounced one of the most harmonious and successful meetings in the history of the order. Though there were many changes in the law proposed, those adopted were few and calculated only to aid in increasing the membership. The delegates showed their appreciation of the work of the officers by giving them another term of three years, the only exception being Vice President Croghan, who could not longer devote the necessary time to the office. The officers elected are:

President—Dr. Felix Gaudin, New Orleans.
Vice President—George D. Landwehr, Cumberland, Md.
Secretary—Anthony Matre, St. Louis.
Treasurer—Charles Hannan, St. Louis.
Supreme Trustee—Michael Quinn, Brooklyn.

Peter Wallrath, of Evansville, and Joseph Berning, of Cincinnati, were named as delegates to the Catholic Federation to be held in New Orleans next November, and Washington, D. C., was chosen as the meeting place for the convention three years from now.

The most important work of the convention related to the extension of the order, and the subject was discussed at great length. A potential influence was the presence and showing made by the organization of Louisville, commanded by Capt. Tony Montodolico and Oscar Maler, and the addresses and work of State Secretary William T. Meehnn and Gens. Michael Reicher and Joseph McGinn. They impressed upon the delegates the benefit and increased membership derived through the military department, which appeals strongly to young men, and pointed to the ranks from Louisville. The result was that the convention provided for an extension fund, to be realized from a monthly assessment of five cents per member. This will give the Catholic Knights a good working fund and will mean a rapid growth of the order.

An entire session was devoted to the rate question, when actualities demonstrated that the Catholic Knights of America are now on a solid basis and the best protected fraternal insurance society in America. With these facts before them the delegates refused to make any changes.

The reports of the Supreme Secretary show that for the last three years there were called thirty-six assessments for the widows and orphans fund. The number of deaths during the six years, 1903 to 1909, among beneficiary members was 2,434.

The closing social features were the visit to the Hermitage, the old Andrew Jackson homestead near Nashville, and the ball and banquet given by the Knights of Columbus in honor of the officers, visitors and delegates.

Messrs. Thomas Gleason, of Covington, and H. A. Vocemans, of Louisville, who represented Kentucky, express the opinion that the legislation enacted will meet general approval and that when the next triennial convention meets the order will have a largely augmented membership.

RESIGNS CHARGE.

Brother of Bishop O'Donoghue Finds Lighter Duties.

The Rev. Father Timothy O'Donoghue has resigned as pastor at Logansport, Ind., and will be stationed at the Highland Orphans' Home in Vincennes. Father O'Donoghue is an elder brother of the Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville. He has served twenty years as pastor at Logansport and is much beloved by the people of that community.

Father O'Donoghue was in this city on March 23 to witness the enthronization of his brother as Bishop of Louisville. He occupied a seat in the front of the Cathedral just outside the sanctuary. Every part of the ceremony he watched with keen interest and from time to time wiped away a trickling tear. They were not tears of sorrow, but tears of joy. There might have been a little regret in his meditations, too, regret that their parents had not lived to see his brother Denis a Bishop.

MERRY MUSIC

To Be Presented by the Cecilian Choral Club.

The Cecilian Choral Club, an organization of well known young people of musical talents, will present "The Pirates of Penzance" at the Cecilian Choral Club on the evenings of May 31 and June 1. As composers of operatic music that lingers long in public memory Gilbert and Sullivan have carved a niche for themselves in the musical hall of fame. "Patience," "Pinafore," "Mikado" and the "Pirates of Penzance" are masterpieces that will never die. The music of each and all is sparkling and catchy and the lines are bright and witty as well as clean and wholesome.

The Cecilian Choral Club has been presenting operas for several years past. Last year "El Capitán" was presented, while the "Mikado" was given in 1908. This year the club has taken the more ambitious opera, "The Pirates of Penzance." The club number among its members many able dramatic and vocal artists, and by reason of diligent rehearsal under the able tutelage of Prof. Clement A. Stapleford they have acquired an ease of manner and stage presence almost equal to professionals.

"The Pirates" is an opera in two acts, and is a continual feast of melody, interspersed with delightful comedy, contributed chiefly by John J. Flynn as Major Gen. Stanley, and James P. Roche as the Sargeant. The club has always had reason to be proud of its prima donna, Miss Louise Forst, whose exquisite soprano has few equals in the city. Others in the cast who have solo numbers are Misses Imelda Shea, Gertrude Simpson, Mae Kalaher and Alice Gilbert and Messrs. William Imorde, Dennis Ryan and David J. Maloney.

Two of the most zealous workers, who have been active since the organization of the club, are Mr. and Mrs. William T. Meehan. Mrs. Meehan is mistress of the wardrobe and her costumes are models of art. Mr. Meehan confines his attention to the business details and property accessories. The personnel of the chorus is as follows:

Sopranos—Alma Story, Edna Story, Mary Forst, Mary Eberhard, Margaret Ryan, Margaret Evans, Loreta Burke, Mary Cunningham, Katherine Carasola, Mary Corcoran, Mary Butler, Francis Dowling, Genevieve Dowling, Mary Palmer, Philomena Schneider, Margaret Heston, Irene Glenn, Marie Sternberg, Anna Marratta, Jennie Marratta, Jessie O'Connell, Helen Gathof, May Snlpp, Jennie Carastanphen, Margie Reilhan, Mary Hollenkamp, Augusta Hollenkamp, Lillian Clare.
Altos—Elizabeth Kling, Bertha Kling, Mary Clines, Mary Adams, Ida Adams, Sarah Palmer, Katherine Smith, Margaret Gathof, Julia Wiedmar, Catherine Boeswold, Mary Nichols, Lena Boeswold.

Tenors—Edward Wolf, Ben Imorde, Emmet Hanrahan, Humphrey Hanrahan, John Hanrahan, Chaffield Eberhard, Joseph Kelley, Thornton Flynn, Joseph Flynn, William Gaffney, Carroll Bigley, J. A. De Lente, Harry Clarke, Robert McIntire.

Bassos—Charles Hammer, Albert Hammer, Louis Kennedy, Ray Flannigan, Dan Lawler, Walter Pilson, Joseph Hund, D. J. Gleason, Newton Elder, R. L. Gaspar, Joe Bowling.

HIGH HONOR.

Franciscans Elect Father Leo Head of the Order.

Word has been received here announcing the election of the Very Rev. Father Leo Greulich, for the past ten years pastor of St. Anthony's church, to Provincial of the order of Minor Conventuals of Black Franciscans. The election was held at the chapter of the United States Province at Syracuse. The news of Father Leo's election was received here with mingled rejoicing and regret. His people rejoice over his ecclesiastical preferment, but they regret his departure from Louisville, since he had become necessary for him to make his headquarters as Provincial at the mother house in Syracuse.

Father Leo celebrated his silver jubilee on December 29 last. He came to Louisville as a young priest more than twenty years ago. After serving as assistant at St. Anthony's he returned East, only to be transferred back some years later as pastor of St. Anthony's. As he succeeded the late Father Miller as pastor, so has he succeeded him as Provincial. When Father Miller died last fall Father Leo was chosen to fill his place as Provincial for the time being. Now he has been elected for a term of several years.

The new Provincial is known in Louisville as a church and school builder, as a zealous worker, as a pious, healthy and energetic. Local baseball fans will miss Father Leo almost as much as his parishioners. His administration as Provincial will do great things for his order.

RETURNED TO KENTUCKY.

Mrs. Bridget O'Brien and sons, Joseph and Thomas, formerly of Lexington and well known in that section of Kentucky, who some time ago went to End, Okla., to reside, returned this week to the Bluegrass capital, where they will make their future home.

CAVAN

County of Mountains, Lakes and Rivers in the North.

Ruins of Abbey and Castles on Many Picturesque Islands.

Seat of O'Reilly Family in Very Ancient Times Says History.

OF INTEREST TO AMERICANS

Cavan is another county in the North of Ireland, and was named after the town of Cavan, which takes its name from the remarkable hollow in which it stands. The county has an area of 746 square miles and a population of 129,000. A great part of the northwestern section is mountainous, while the remainder is a plain with gentle undulations. The plain is interspersed with lakes and bogs.

The highest mountain in Cavan is Callagh, 2,188 feet high. Several important rivers run through County Cavan, but belong only in small part to it. The celebrated Shannon rises in the northwestern extremity. The Owenaghy, running south on the western boundary of Cavan, joins the Shannon just before the latter enters Lough Allen. The Claddagh, the Woodford, the Annalee and the Droine rivers either rise or pass through the County Cavan. The Meath Blackwater and the Moynalty rivers also irrigate the land of Cavan.

Many picturesque lakes are also to be found within the confines of the county, and these lakes are made more picturesque on account of the number of islands, many of which are sites for ruined castles and abbeys. Trinity Abbey and Clough-Oughter Castle are among the historic ruins most visited.

Cavan, the county town, has a population of about 3,000, while other towns and villages number less than 2,000. The Connaght coal field extends into this county, iron, lead and copper are also found within its borders. The ancient name of the county was East Bregny, or Bregny O'Reilly, because it was the patrimony of the O'Reillys, and Croghan, a little place near Killyshandra, was formerly the site used for inaugurating the Prince of Bregny. The plain lying around Ballymaguran, on the boundary line of Leitrim, was the ancient Moyseach, where the pagan Irish worshipped. It is claimed that St. Patrick destroyed an idol there in his time.

Bolturbet, a picturesque and historical little town on the Erne river between Lough Oughter and Lough Erne, is a miniature industrial center. It boasts a distillery and has communication by barges with Lough Erne and Lough Neagh. Ballyshannon boasts an unusual number of public institutions for a small town. Other towns in Cavan are Kingscourt, Virginia, Ballyjamesduff and Killyshandra.

The extreme length from Lough Macnean to the southeast near Kingscourt is fifty-seven and a half miles and its breadth is twenty-seven miles.

The County Cavan expects many visitors during the Irish homecoming this summer. From an American point of view Cavan is one of the most historic counties in Ireland. Within its confines are to be found the old homestead of the ancestors of "Fighting Phil" Sheridan, the great cavalry leader and hero of the civil war; the Presbyterian church near Killyshandra, in which the progenitors of Edgar Allen Poe worshipped; the birthplace in Cotehill of Mrs. Sadler, the great Irish-American author; the house at Quillea in which Dean Swift completed "Gulliver's Travels," and in which Richard Brinsley Sheridan, the dramatist, was born; the celebrated Clough Oughter Castle, in which the Irish chieftain Owen Roe O'Neill died; the island on which was born St. Mogue, who helped to convert the Welsh to Christianity, and the well of St. Dymphna, who in the tenth century fled from her pagan father, who followed her to Ghel, in Belgium, where he killed her.

Also in County Cavan can be seen among scores of other sights the Druid altars near Ballyconnell; the plain of Magh Sleight, on which stood the golden Col of Crom Cruach, which St. Patrick destroyed with twelve lesser idols 1500 years ago, and the battlefield where the O'Reillys and O'Rourke met in 1256.

CATHOLIC TEACHERS

Will Hold Seventh Annual Convention in Detroit.

The Catholics of Detroit are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the delegates to the seventh annual convention of the Catholic Educational Association, which will meet in that city July 5, 6 and 7. The Right Rev. Bishop Foley is very enthusiastic over the prospects, and has called a

MOURNING

For King Edward Causes Postponement of the Clash.

Liberals and the Tories Have Agreed Upon Temporary Truce.

United Irish League Is Doing Great Things For Tenants.

HOME RULE ONLY DELAYED

The sudden death of King Edward has caused a postponement of several months in the expected clash between the Liberals and Tories in Great Britain. Grief over the death of King Edward has a more personal and more genuine note than the grief over the death of Queen Victoria, who was loved more as a great institution than as a personality. Edward, by his human qualities, by his extraordinary energy and his immense triumphs in the world as a peacemaker, and even by his great human weaknesses, inspired an immense personal affection. Englishmen at the bottom are intensely sentimental, and now the emotional tide flows strongly.

Politicians are compelled like others to bow to the immense tidal wave and for the moment any serious discussion of the grave conflict between the Liberals and Tories would be scouted as indecent. The Liberal Ministers have accordingly resolved to postpone any decision on their future action until the atmosphere of the funeral has time to disappear, but certain things are recognized as inevitable. The final clash between Tories and Liberals can not occur as was expected in June, and this first postponement necessarily involves a further postponement. The Liberals can not allow the general election either in July or August, those months being always fatal to that party in electioneering.

The Liberals are still resolved to make no compromise on the essential principles, especially on the power to pass home rule legislation and the Welsh church disestablishment bill in a single Parliament. Hon. T. P. O'Connor nevertheless says that compromise is in the air, especially as the new King favors it, and all parties shrink from the responsibility of throwing him thus early in his reign into the vortex of such a fierce internal controversy. Some of the Tories are said to be ready to make big concessions, but this remains to be seen. One of the most curious developments of the situation is the continuous growth of a softening feeling among the English masses and even the politicians with regard to Ireland and home rule.

Mr. O'Connor declares that for the first time in the history of the two countries the death of an English sovereign has caused an outburst of genuine sorrow in Ireland. In every county meetings were held and sympathetic messages were sent to the King and his mother. It is possible that Ireland by prudence and tact may therefore find this one of the most profitable moments in its history for producing reconciliation with England on the basis of self-government.

Most of the Irish leaders are scattered. Hon. John E. Redmond is on the continent and nearly all the other Irish members are in Ireland attending meetings which had been arranged prior to the King's illness. The fact that few of the Irish leaders were in London for the funeral is regarded as unfortunate by some people, who insist that their presence would have an immense effect on the English feeling, now open as it has not been since the death of Gladstone.

The gigantic transformation which is going on in Ireland and which is throwing back and extinguishing the old Ireland of penal days and landlord rule as completely as an earthquake in an old city, brings home to almost every peasant a great opportunity to be gained or lost. Everywhere tenants on great estates are meeting to discuss the terms on which they will buy their lands with the assistance of the State. They look for advice and assistance to their priests, to their political leaders, but above all to the United Irish League. Another great operation is the restoration of the evicted tenants. More than 4,000 persons who were driven out of their farms, whose houses were razed, whose fields were given over either to men specially brought in or to waste, have been restored to their holdings or to others equally as good within the last few years. All these tenants have owed the preparation and success of their claims to the United Irish League and its indefatigable secretary.

VETERAN TRAVELER.

The venerable Father Gribbon, of Abbotree, N. D., where he is chaplain of St. Joseph's Hospital, is preparing to make his fifty-third trip across the Atlantic ocean. He will visit Rome and other cities on the European continent. He will be seventy-nine years old on June 9 and expects to celebrate his birthday on the ocean.

TRIBUTE TO EDWARD.

The cable dispatches tell us that the Lord Mayor of Dublin, in response to a request for an official expression on the death of King Edward, had this to say:

"Our friends in America should know the state of the Irish feeling at this juncture—it is one of genuine feeling of regret by all classes and creeds throughout Ireland. Edward was a good friend of Ireland and Irish servants. He endeared himself to the hearts of the Irish people by his genuine good will toward us. I speak as a Catholic and a Nationalist."

This is showing the Catholic Irish spirit, and that an Irishman can forgive if not forget.

COMPARISON.

The Fourth of July, in its broadest sense, is a commemoration of the war of the American Revolution. In seven of the historic battles of that war, including Bunker Hill, 1,119 men were killed and wounded. In the celebrations of the Fourth of July for the last seven years the number of killed and wounded was 24,603. That is to say, the annual casualties of Independence day are on the average thirty times more numerous than the average casualties of some of the best known battles which Independence day commemorates in time of peace.

The bare contrast of these figures is a source of public humiliation, and it should be the incentive to a public determination to put an end to the annual Fourth of July slaughter. One reason why we haven't succeeded very well in this undertaking up to date is that popular disgust with the folly, and the moralizing to which it gives rise in the press and elsewhere, always come after, and are not sufficiently in evidence before the national holiday. In every city there should be an organized movement for a sane and sensible observance of the Fourth, and thus suppress the hoodlum, homicidal celebration that has produced such fearful results. It can be made effective if the people so desire.

CHOOSING SENATORS.

The Catholic Union and Times of Buffalo, N. Y., says:

"A Democratic House of Representatives in Washington may be a strong protest against the existing order of things, but what is wanted is a universal demand throughout the country that the members of the Senate shall be amenable to the suffrages of the people. We have outlived the ideas of a privileged chamber, and there is no reason why the Senators should not be as directly responsible to the electorate of the country as the lower Congressional body. United States Senators are today elected by the legislators of the various States and it is easier to fix votes in the Legislature than it is to get the popular voice of the people. We have outlived the time when the selection of Senators counted for anything in the country, and at the same time we have the anomaly of a legislative body far more ornamental than useful."

It is time the East and North were awakening. The Democracy of the South and West were aroused to the exigencies of the situation some time back. The perpetuity of the United States Senate on the old lines will lead to something like the British House of Lords.

THAT CORONATION OATH.

Catholics all over the world are anxiously awaiting the ceremony of crowning King George V. of England, not so much for the pageant, but as to what will be done toward eliminating the language objectionable to Catholics in the prescribed coronation oath. It is a question today of drawing the form of a coronation oath for the first time in England no one would think of introducing such phrases as would render it directly offensive to the people of one faith or another.

Protestant England is an accepted fact, the established church is part of the British constitution, but King George's subjects are of many sects and religions. To single out the church of Rome for violent denunciation at the beginning of the new reign is merely to be bound by outward bigotry. Religious toleration and freedom of worship are everywhere recognized as a matter of course. The old formula was followed by King Edward on his accession, not because of any political necessity such as existed when it was originally adopted, but merely in blind obedience to an old precedent.

King George, it is reported, favors an entire change. If he insists on the change there is no doubt that his wishes will be respected. Should the objectionable language be stricken from the coronation oath at his behest, King George will enter upon his reign with the respect and admiration of his Catholic subjects.

Pulaski and Kosciuszko, Catholic Polish patriots, have at last been honored with monuments by the American nation. Both of these Generals fought in Washington's battles for freedom from the British yoke of despotism, and none were trusted with more arduous and fiercely fought engagements than these Catholic military geniuses. It is high time the nation was honoring them.

Halley's comet, about which there has been so much speculation, will be seen in the western sky on clear evenings next week. Beginning today it sets two hours after the sun, and then later every night. This it can be seen well and at a convenient hour.

Brooklyn food inspectors seized 50,000 dozen "canned" eggs in a raid on refrigerator plants there Saturday. They were shipped from Chicago in metallic caskets some time ago. There is work of this kind for the health departments in all large cities.

DELMONT CLUB.

Will Afford Its Friends View of Halley's Comet.

The Delmont Club will give its annual excursion on the steamer Island Queen, the handsome five-decker that has carried Delmont's excursions for several years. Tomorrow will be the Halley comet excursion, and on the return trip all will have an excellent view of the terrestrial visitor. The boat will leave the foot of Fourth street at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, returning at 9 o'clock. Good music will be furnished for dancing. Tickets are being sold at fifty cents, and as the number allowed on the boat is limited to 3,000 the Delmont Club urges all its patrons who have purchased tickets to be on hand early tomorrow afternoon. Delmont has a swell crowd in anything it undertakes; it has never made a failure of anything. Tomorrow's effort promises to eclipse anything ever attempted by the club, and the view of Halley's comet from the river will be well worth the trip.

YOUNG MATRON MOURNED.

Sincere sorrow was expressed all over the city on Wednesday when it became known that Mrs. Fannie Lysaght, an estimable young matron, died early that morning. She had been ill a short time and had been at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital only five days. Her husband, Daniel T. Lysaght, two children and two brothers, Al S. Smith, the funeral director, and Davo Smith, and two sisters, Miss Katie Smith and Sister Mary Bertry, of the Sisters of Mercy, survive her. The deceased was a daughter of the late Gran W. Smith, founder of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America. The funeral took place from St. Francis of Rome church yesterday morning. The many friends of the deceased and the bereaved family crowded the church.

THE COUNTRY STORE WON.

At the matinee of "Among the Stars" at Macauley's this afternoon a box party will be the country store force of the recent St. Cecilia's bazaar. None worked harder than the young misses under direction of Mr. Gus Weber. In a banter with the Rev. Father Brady he promised the "force" free tickets to the Mackin Council show if they turned in over $200 net from the country store. There was hustle and bustle at the store every night, and the total net returns were nearly $300. So the country store will be in a box at the show. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Weber, chaperons; Misses Angela Roetenwald, Julia Buttermann, Nellie May, Lilly Andriot, Clara Meisner, Mary Fischer, Agnes Jaques and Frances Weber.

ALUMNAE REUNION.

The alumnae of Presentation Academy has affiliated with the alumnae of the mother house at Nazareth, where a grand reunion will be held on June 15. Miss Irene Curran has been elected delegate to represent the local body.

GRAND SPORT

Attracts Great Crowds to Spring Race Meeting.

High class racing continues to prevail at Churchill Downs, and the spring meeting of 1910 will go down in history as the greatest meeting of the New Louisville Jockey Club. The big event for today is the Bourdon handicap for three-year-olds, and a number of high class thoroughbreds are entered. The stake events scheduled for next week are the Tobacco stakes on Tuesday, the Juvenile stakes on Thursday and the Frank Fehr stakes and the Gentlemen's cup next Saturday.

During the early part of the week had weather sadly interfered with the attendance, but this was more than made up by the attendance on days when the sun shone. The success of the Paris mutuel machines in Louisville has revived interest in racing throughout the country, and steps are being taken in Louisiana, Missouri and elsewhere to re-establish the sport of kings and to install the Paris mutuel machines.

MINUTE PUDDING.

One quart of sweet milk, one pinch of salt, butter size of one-half of an egg. Let three cupfuls of milk come to a boil. Stir in a pinch of salt and the butter. Add to this boiling milk sifted flour a handful at a time until it becomes smooth and quite thick. Turn it into a dish that has been dipped in cold water. For a sauce use one cupful of milk sweetened to taste and flavored with grated nutmeg.

SONG OF THE THRUSH.

Ah! the May was grand this mornin'!
Shure, how could I feel forlorn in Such a land, when tree and flower tossed their kisses to the breeze?
Could an Irish heart be quiet
While the Spring was ramin' riot,
An' the birds of free America were singin' in the trees?
In the songs that they were singin'
No famillar note was ringin'.
But I strove to imitate them an' I whistled like a lad.
Oh, my heart was warm to love
them
For the very newness of them—
For the wild songs that they helped me to forget—an' I was glad.

So I mocked the feathered choir
To my hungry heart's desire.
An' I gloried in the comradeship that made their joy my own.
Till a new note sounded, stillin'
All the rest. A thrush was trillin':
Ah! the thrush I left behind me in the fields about Athlone!
Where, upon the whitethorn
bush,
He was minstrel of the Mayin'.
In my days of love an' laughter that the years have laid at rest;
Here again his notes were ringin'.
But I'd lost the heart for singin'.
Ah! the song I could not answer was the one I knew the best.

PROPER RETRACTION.

The many friends of the Little Sisters of the Poor were very glad to see the Courier-Journal retract the story that two members of their community had been soliciting alms at the race track on Derby day. According to the rules of the order the Little Sisters are not allowed to visit the race track or other places of amusement at any time. Their work is hard enough as it is, and the statement that they were at the race track only added to their humiliation.

The King of Italy decorated him and made him a Chevalier and officer of the crown of Italy. Byrnes declined the honor. He said that all the honor he wanted, and that men could desire in his judgment, was to be a citizen of the United States. There is a lesson in that remark for the fondling sycophants who are oversteering crawling on their bellies before the aristocracy of Europe.

FOR WOMAN'S EYE.

Sleeves generally are still close fitting and quite long. Lingerie gowns are taking on touches of bright color.

Present fashion demands that the figure be kept in slender lines about the hips.

Suede, patent leather and natural kid boots are in high style with silk, wool and linen costumes.

A noticeable feature of the season's blouses is the tendency to simulate a side front closing.

Some of the handsome new sweaters are of white with large sailor collar and cuffs in color.

Long skirts are worn for afternoon and evening, but even at such times many women wear short skirts.

Coat lengths vary a bit, though most of them are below the hip depth, and a number have novel vest effects.

Coat lengths are a bit shorter, varying from thirty-two inches to the half length, which is usually that of the Russian blouse.

Black pings are in favor, being used to emphasize important lines of a costume. They serve excellently the desire for a touch of black.

Frocks for summer made in shirt-waist and skirt style are exceedingly popular, and the materials used are linen, silk or the usual summer fabrics.

Rough straws are decidedly smart this season and, strange as it may seem to the uninitiated, the rougher the straw the costlier the hat may be.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

San Francisco has a flourishing
juvenile division.

Division 4 of St. Paul has now over 500 members in good standing.
Milwaukee Hibernians will have a ball team in the city Fraternal League.

Matthew Cummings will be a candidate for a third term as National President.

The State degree team initiated
more than fifty members at St.
Paul, Minn.

Division 8 of Clinton, Mass., has 340 members on its rolls and a treasury of $11,000.

Philadelphia has elected and will send twenty-seven delegates to the national convention.

The union bazaar of the Ancient Order at Lowell, Mass., realized about $3,000 for the building fund.

Celebrations in honor of their old time members are meeting with much favor in Eastern cities.

Joseph McLaughlin, State President of Pennsylvania, is mentioned as a candidate for National President.

Division 3, "the baby" of Indianapolis, is making an energetic and successful canvass for new members.

The order in St. Louis owns a splendid hall, which cost $50,000, entirely free from debt, which the members are justly proud of.

The Ladies' Auxiliary now numbers over 60,000 members, organized in forty-one States, Territories and Provinces, divided into 817 divisions.

In Indianapolis the Ladies' Auxiliary has practically doubled its membership in the past five years.
This is a hint to our Louisville auxiliary.

Right Rev. Timothy Corbett, recently raised to the Bishopric of Crocketon, was for a number of years Chaplain of Division 1 of Duluth.

Prof. Goodrich and a chorus of 100 voices, with orchestral accompaniment, will furnish the musical part of the programme at the national convention.

The Hibernians of Washington, D. C., appropriated $1,500 to defray the expenses of the delegation that will represent the national capital at Portland.

Division reports for the quarter ending April 1 show a gain in membership in Syracuse for the first three months of 1910 of nearly 100,
and the financial standing equally good.

Organized seven years ago, the Ladies' Auxiliary of Wappinger Falls, N. Y., has since then expended $3,500 for sick benefits and charity and still has $1,178 in the treasury.

A most impressive scene was presented in St. Patrick's church at Pueblo, Col., when a very large number of Hibernians received in a body. The altars were beautifully decorated.

Dr. Andrew C. Smith, the next Governor of Oregon, will be toastmaster at the national convention banquet at Portland, and Rev. P. C.
Yorke will come from San Francisco to deliver an address.

Wisconsin Hibernians are organizing and will send a goodly delegation to the national convention at Portland next July. The State will send its five officers, and Prof.
Michael Rohan will represent Milwaukee.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Connecticut is in a flourishing condition, having forty-two auxiliaries with a membership of 5,500 and a juvenile division of 300. Irish history has been placed in every parochial school in the State. During the past year they organized four new auxiliaries.

The banquet and reception, tendered Father Brucker by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Indianapolis was largely attended and very enjoyable.
Short addresses, recitations, vocal and instrumental numbers and an exhibition drill preceded the banquet. Father Brucker expressed gratitude for the kindly reception extended him by the Ancient Order and people of St. Patrick's parish.

EXCEPT FATHER.

In a home where the mother was somewhat aggressive and the father good-natured and peace-loving, a child's estimate of home conditions was tersely expressed the other day. While dressing, the mother paused in the act of putting on her shoes and said, "I certainly am easy on shoes. I have worn these for four months. I don't know what you would do, John, if I were not.
I am easy on everything." The little girl looked up from her dolls and remarked: "Except father."

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Mrs. Katherine McNulty, who died last Friday at her home, 1702 High street, took place from St. Patrick's church, of which she was for many years a devout member. Mrs. McNulty was born in Ireland, but came to this country when a girl and had lived in Louisville for nearly half a century.
Three sons, John, James and Edward McNulty, survive her.

Great sympathy is being expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Butler, whose thirteen-year-old daughter, Miss Willie Butler, died at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital on Friday night of last week. She had been ill nearly two years and bore her sufferings with Christian fortitude. The funeral took place from St. Peter's church on Sunday afternoon, and the many present attested the esteem in which Miss Butler and her family were held.

On Wednesday morning Councilman
Thomas J. Garvey received a telegram announcing the death of Miss Katie Connors at Oakland, Cal.
Miss Connors left Louisville for California on April 25 in an effort to regain her health. She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. George J. Murphy, of Louisville, and Mrs. Mary O'Brien, of Oakland. The remains will be brought to Louisville for burial. The deceased was well and favorably known in Irish Catholic circles in Louisville, and her untimely death is greatly deplored. She was the fiancée of Councilman Garvey.

CATHOLIC GENERAL.

Frederick Von Schrader, one of the three recently appointed Brigadier Generals of the United States army, is a Catholic and an alumnus of St. Louis University.

PREPARING.

From several sources it is learned that New Orleans is already making extensive preparations for the ninth national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, which will convene there next November.

LABOR REVIEW.

The Labor Review, published at Lexington, Dan Crowe editor and proprietor, has made his appearance.
It is the cleanest, brightest and fairest labor journal that we have seen published in Kentucky.

LEMONS ARE USEFUL.

Lemon juice sweetened with loaf
or crushed sugar will cure a cough.
Lemon juice used as a gargle will cure sore throat.

A cloth soaked in lemon juice will stop the bleeding of cuts if bound about them tightly.

Squeeze a little lemon juice into a glass of water and drink it before breakfast every morning. It will sweeten your stomach.

Lemon and glycerine make an excellent lotion for the hands if applied before going to bed. It will remove roughness and vegetable stains from hands. After having your hands in hot soapsuds rub with a piece of lemon. This will prevent chapping and makes the hands soft and white.

MAKES ONE THINK.

When a man spends hundreds of dollars and sacrifices his time to be elected to an unsalaried office, it starts the average mind thinking.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled
From Exchanges.

A new creamery is projected at Lattin, which it is thought will be erected near the Five Crosses.

The putting in of crops in the Ballyborough district is finished, and on the whole everything looks rosy.

Many of the Irish County Councils have gone in for steam rolling, thus securing more economical but better roads.

The death is announced of Sir
Owen Slack, formerly Divisional Commissioner of the Royal Irish Constabulary in Dundalk.

A fire of a very serious nature occurred in the pork factory of Lunham Bros. at Dundalk, resulting in damage estimated at $20,000.

On Sunday, May 1, His Eminence Cardinal Logue visited Dundalk and conferred the sacrament of confirmation on some five or six hundred children in St. Patrick's church.

At a special court at Ballybay,
Justices Henry and Boyd presiding, Michael Lennon, of Chieve, was charged as being of unsound mind.

After information made by his mother and medical examination he was committed to the Monaghan Asylum.

Maurice White, aged ninety-six and a veteran who had seen active service at Inkerman and elsewhere in the Crimean campaign, passed away at the Ballyborough workhouse. The Government allowed the sum of $20
for his burial, which was at Kil-lanne in the strangers' abstinment.

The death of Patrick Fitzgerald at Rathgorman, County Waterford, recalls the first execution by the Marquis of Waterford on the Bessford estate after the starting of the Land League. Willing hands erected a Land League hut, in which Fitzgerald resided up to the day of his death.

Cardinal Logue presided at the funeral services of the late Dr. John Fitzgibbon at Carlingford, and in his sermon said it was a deep consolation to the relatives who mourned his comparatively early demise to know that his death was as edifying as his life, and that they might reasonably hope that he was now enjoying his reward.

At a large and representative meeting at Middletown, presided over by James Quinn, resolutions were unanimously adopted expressing the utmost confidence in the Irish Parliamentary party under the leadership of John Redmond. Rev. Father P. A. McKee said the meeting had his most cordial support and he wished it every success.

A representative and enthusiastic meeting of the Nationalists of Monaghan and the surrounding counties was held in Monaghan on Thursday, May 5, to commemorate the erection of the monument to the memory of the veteran patriot, the late James Rice, of Tyholland, Joseph Devlin, Dr. Charles O'Connell, Joseph Nolan,
members of Parliament, and others
addressed the meeting.

The death of Bridget Conlon caused widespread sorrow in Carrickmacross and County Louth. She was the wife of John Conlon, cattle dealer, and her family is well known and deservedly respected. She was typical of the good old Irish stock, and her unfailing kindness and good nature were not confined to her own domestic circle, for she was ever well disposed and charitable to all.

News of the death of John Smyth
was received with widespread regret.
In the early days of the Gaelic revival at Lattin he was a leading spirit. In Ballybay also he was instrumental in starting an Irish class, which flourished under his charge
until he left to take up duties elsewhere. His health failed and during the past two months he was confined to his residence at Sporthall.

With genuine sorrow the people of Carlingford learned that their good parish priest, Rev. Thomas McNary, had passed away after an illness of over a year. He was ordained at Maynooth and had spent over forty years in the service of his people, who realize the loss not only of a tender father and true friend, but a wise and prudent counsellor and a consoling and sympathetic adviser.

A few minutes after his departure with a gun, evidently with the intention of shooting some rabbits, the eldest son of John Richardson, a Ballybrophy farmer and well known in Tipperary, heard a shot, and running in the direction the father had taken was horrified to find him lying dead, with his head and face shattered beyond recognition. Richardson was forty-five years of age and leaves a wife and five young children, for whom great sympathy is felt.

MAN'S FOLLY.

A wise woman once said that there were three follies of men that always amused her. The first was climbing trees to shake fruit down, when if they would wait long enough the fruit would fall itself;
the second was going to war to kill each other, when if they only waited they would die naturally, and the third was that they should run after the women, when if they did not do so the women would be sure to run after them.

VERY HIGH CLASS

Is "Among The Stars,"
Given by Mackin's
Choral Club.

"Among the Stars" has been played to crowded houses on Wednesday night, Thursday night and last night, and these successes are expected to be repeated at the matinee this afternoon. Macauley's Theater has never held more appreciative audiences than those that greeted the stars of Mackin's Choral Club during the last three nights. The trouble was that the audiences did not seem to know when they had enough of a good thing. Singers were made to sing the same song repeatedly; dancers, acrobats and spotlight characters responded to encores until they were exhausted.

"Among the Stars" is really a chaotic melange with a tendency to put one up in the air. It is looking for a plot, for plot is not. Even the member of the cast is a star in her or his respective part, and the chorus is made up of lesser stars, whose twinkling lead brilliance to their more favored brothers and sisters of the spotlight. The audience played no favorites. Miss Laura Long, whose magnificent soprano voice thrilled all, was made to respond to repeated encores after every song. Mrs. Esther Slater, whose part as the soulful and Miss Abbie Chester in the lagoon role had to respond to repeated recalls. Aulyn Kanston, the composer and interpreter of the leading male role; Thomas D. Cline, Charles Parsons, Patrick King and Louis J. Kleffer all had their admirers. Carl Zang as leader of the orchestra added much to the success of the show. The costumes were elaborate and artistic, and the stage settings were quite pretty.

PREPARING.

Division 1, A. O. H., Will Soon Present a Novelty.

Division 1, A. O. H., held a spirited meeting this week, with President Thomas Walsh in the chair and all the officers present. Andrew Gorman was reported still sick, the only one now on the list. John Holden, who had been ill for some time past, was reported well and again at his post.

The announcement that the Rev. John H. Riley had become a member of the division was received with great enthusiasm, and it was intimated that others may soon follow his example. Only routine business was transacted, but there was a lengthy discussion upon the question of a summer celebration for the Irishmen of the city. Messrs. Thomas Keenan, Thomas Dolan and James Barry were appointed a special committee, to whom the matter was referred. They will report soon, and it is expected they will arrange for a celebration of a new and novel character.

PURSUED BY HODOO.

The Louisville baseball team will play at Indianapolis again this afternoon, tomorrow and Monday, and then follow a three-game series with Toledo and Columbus before the return home. Thus far the road trip has not been a very successful one, owing to the crippled condition of the different members of the club, and in addition the team has been pursued with a bad case of "hoo-doo," losing a lot of games by a score or on some freak play, but the greatest drawback to the team has been the poor work of the pitching staff, none of whom seem to be in condition. With the advent of good weather and the final round of the journey home things will begin to break a little better and Manager Peltz and his charges will give a better account of themselves.

KNIGHTS CHALLENGE MACKIN.

There was not the usual attendance at Mackin Council's meeting Monday night, owing perhaps to the fact that only routine business was to be transacted. Three members were reported on the sick list, and a communication was read proposing a summer trip to Niagara Falls, but action was deferred to a later date. The Knights of Columbus of New Albany challenged Mackin for a baseball game, and after its acceptance work was begun on the organization of a team. A feature was the address of Supreme Organizer Budenz, of Indianapolis, who has been doing some excellent work for the Young Men's Institute in a number of Western States.

FORSAKES THE WORLD.

Miss Mary Seelbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seelbach, took her final vows as a member of the Ursuline Sisters last week. The ceremony took place at the Ursuline Convent in Brown county, Ohio, and among those from Louisville who witnessed the beautiful exercises were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seelbach, Miss Emma Seelbach, Mrs. Herbert Guthrie and Miss Lorenz. The Ursuline nuns devote their lives to teaching. The Right Rev. Monsignor Murray, V. G. of Cincinnati, officiated at the exercises.

THREE HARD GAMES.

The Portland baseball club has mapped out a series of hard games for the next three Sundays, the Indianapolis White Sox playing here tomorrow afternoon, the Cincinnati Shamrocks the next Sunday and the famous Union Printers' baseball club of Cincinnati the succeeding Sunday. The game tomorrow with the White Sox will be a hot one, as this team defeated Portland earlier in the season by a score of five to four, and the Portland boys are anxious to even up the score. Doherty and Overton will be Portland's battery, while McGuire and

The Robt-Bland Company continues to grow in public favor and the attendance has been steadily increasing. The performances given at the Masonic are of a very high standard, and for next week a presentation of "East Lynne" is promised that will equal any ever witnessed in Louisville. There will be the usual matinees on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

RETURNS TO CHICAGO.

Joseph L. Doherty, a former well known resident of New Albany, but now Auditor of the Monon railway with headquarters in Chicago, spent last week visiting his old home as the guest of his sisters, Miss Mary Rick, 1204 East Market street. He returned to the Windy City Monday morning.

NEW LORETTINE CONVENT.

The Sisters of Loretto at Denver, whose mother house is in Marion county, Kentucky, have taken out a permit to erect a new convent and academy in the Colorado capital. It will be three stories high and the estimated cost is $100,000.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

Dr. B. J. O'Connor Will Address the Next Meeting.

Trinity Council held a well attended meeting last Monday evening. Application for membership was received from Boone Francis Gardner. The Sick Committee reported that Leo Gunther and Joseph Hoehr were still on the sick list. A committee which was appointed a few weeks ago to look into the matter of placing shower baths in the building was given authority to proceed with the work at once. The Literary Committee reported that Dr. B. J. O'Connor would address the council next Monday night, May 23, and his subject will be "The White Plague and the Prevention of Contagious Diseases." Dr. O'Connor has been connected with the American Red Cross Society for some time and has given these subjects much thought and study, and his talk will therefore be very interesting and instructive. It was announced that a matter of much importance will be brought up for discussion next Monday night and the members are therefore urged to lend their assistance toward having a large attendance for the occasion. The meeting will be called to order at 7:30 instead of 8 o'clock.

LAWYER'S STORY

Tells How He Was Led to Become a Catholic.

The International Catholic Truth Society, with headquarters at 407 Borgen street, Brooklyn, N. Y., has published a little booklet, "My Road to the True Church." It is from the pen of Hon. Frank Johnston, a prominent lawyer and former Attorney General of Mississippi. The little brochure gives the mental processes by which Mr. Johnston became converted to Catholicity. Unlike many books of this kind, the author does not burden the reader with matters of family, personal details and outside influences. He treats his subject from the standpoint of a lawyer.

Mr. Johnston began to study the Catholic church from an attorney's point of view in 1875. His interest increased gradually and steadily, but it was only after four years that he became a convert. His wife and mother-in-law soon after followed him into the Catholic church. Since his conversion he has had the happiness to see nine children and twenty-two grandchildren received into the true faith.

The price of the little booklet is only ten cents.

KNIGHTS ENJOY FEAST.

About 100 members of Louisville Council went to Elizabethtown Sunday to attend the initiation of a class into the local council of the Knights of Columbus. Other visiting Knights were on hand from Nashville, Bowling Green, Paducah, Lebanon and Bardonia. All attended mass at St. James church in the morning. The Rev. Father Hugh Daly celebrated the mass and the sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Augustus, C. R., of St. Mary's College. The initiatory ceremonies were held in the afternoon and the banquet at night. Between 350 and 400 Knights sat down to a royal feast furnished by the ladies of Elizabethtown. Dr. J. W. O'Connor, of that city, presided as toastmaster. Attorney J. J. Kavanaugh, of Louisville, delivered the principal address. His theme was "Modern Knight-hood." Judge Frank Daugherty, of Bardonia, toasted the ladies. Others who spoke informally were Judge Samuel J. Boldrick, Senator Mark Ryan and P. H. Callahan, all of Louisville.

FONTAINE FERRY.

A touch of "local color" will be given the entertainment programme at Fontaine Ferry next week. Two of the vaudeville acts booked for the park theater owe their origin to Louisville. These are the Tempest-Sunshine trio and Schep's comedy circus. The former is made up of three pretty girls, who know how to sing, dance and wear natty clothes. Prof. Schep is a well known young man of this city, who in a few years has secured an unusually clever bunch of trained animals. There will also be a new programme of popular music rendered by Gregg's band in the daily free concerts, and the various other outdoor features will be found running in full blast.

WITH NUPITAL MANS.

John S. Martell, a popular member of Unity Council of New Albany and for several years employed at the Kentucky Irish American office, and Miss Matilda Leist were united in marriage Tuesday morning with a nuptial mass at St. Mary's church, the Rev. George C. Borries officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leist and is an estimable young woman. With the legion of friends who join in extending congratulations to the happy couple, who have gone to house-keeping in New Albany.

MOTION PICTURES.

With the regular changes at the Casino, Princess and Columbia next week will come pictures from the world's leading film makers, presenting a programme that is certain to please their patrons. There will be also the latest illustrated songs. With the electric fans these houses provide a pleasant place for rest and amusement.

COMMENCEMENT.

The commencement exercises of Presentation Academy, Fourth and Breckinridge, will take place on the morning of June 12. The class this year is very large and there will be sixteen graduates.
